Sharing Wisdom

April 2021 session 2

Dear Ladies,

The next exploration in our Gilded Age Series is literature. Henry James was one of the foremost writers of his time and regarded by many as one of the greatest novelists of all time. His stories delve into the kaleidoscopic nature of humanity and they are set in the pulse of the Gilded era.

Our discussion of his novel THE GOLDEN BOWL will have two perspectives. To start, we will analyze the complex story of the four principal characters. And, because we will be using videos - a film or serial adaptation - we will then discuss presentation, sets, costuming, lifestyle, and the nuances and characteristics of these people as their story unfolds in the opulence of the Gilded Age.

For links to the videos and printed material for this topic and to join in our programs please contact us at womensforumusa@gmail.com. You will then be added to our email distribution list for detailed announcements of all events.

Best always,

Evelyn
