LOVING JUDY - A MOTHER'S DAY TRIBUTE

Hello Ladies,

Judy Garland was unquestionably one of the greatest artistic talents of her generation. From childhood on, her voice electrified and mesmerized audiences the world over. And, as with all the "Greats", the legacy of her genius endures. Judy Garland is for all time a Classic and in a league of her very own.

Behind the facade of ultimate diva, however, existed a woman of great personal power and crushing frailty. Her story has been told countless times, most recently in a feature film for which Renee Zellweger as Judy won the Oscar.

For our approach to the Judy Garland story we will be guided by an in depth documentary and interviews with her daughter Liza Minnelli.

Those who surrounded her and knew her have many viewpoints on the life of the Diva, but it is Liza's perspectives that most touch the heart.

Either way, there is no doubt that Judy Garland was a woman of enormous complexities who was not only an idol to her adoring and sympathetic public, but as a mother was appreciated, protected and deeply loved by her children.
